NEW CONTESTS
FOR SCHOOLS

Extemporaneous Speaking — Rules of the Contest — Model Subjects — Will Be Drawing Feature

The following letter relative to the contest in extemporaneous speaking which is to be added to the literary program of the Northwest Missouri Inter-High School Field Day exercises for 1916, has been sent by H. P. Swinehart, corresponding secretary of the association, to all schools participating in this event. This event is new in this part of the county and will be one of the drawing features of the literary program.

"Contests in extemporaneous speaking for both boys and girls will be added to the literary program of the Northwest Missouri Inter-High School Field Day exercises for 1916. Below are some items of interest relative to these contests.

Rules for Contests:—

1. Each speaker is limited to five minutes.
2. Subjects will be chosen from lists submitted by chairman.
3. Each contestant shall have an hour to prepare his speech.
4. During this hour reference books and communication of any sort are forbidden.
5. The boys' and the girls' contest will be distinct.

Suggestive Method of Developing Speech:—

1. State central idea or subject; i. e., Washington was great.
2. Restate central idea in other words; i. e., He was the most colossal figure of the Revolution.
3. Organize material into at least two points supporting that central idea; i. e., (1) He was unselfish. (2). He was patriotic. (a) General illustration; i. e., He served to aid his country. (b) Specific instance; i. e., He served without pay. (c) Authority; i. e., Webster's tribute to his greatness. (See also methods of developing paragraphs for suggestions).

Model Subjects:—

- Boys:—(1) The Value of the Literary Society.
(2) City Life: Its Advantages and Disadvantages to a Boy.
(3) Work is Essential to Development of a Strong Character.
(4) The College of My Choice.
Girls:—(1) My Home Town Twenty

Y. W. C. A. CELEBRATES JUBILEE

A Jubilee celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of the Y. W. C. A. is being held by all the organizations in America, during the month of February. The association was started in Boston in 1866, for the purpose of helping homeless girls who were employed in the city. When the value of the service rendered through this organization was realized by others, similar organizations were established throughout the country. At the present time there are 1,006 local organizations with a total membership of 373,234.

The purpose of the Jubilee is to arouse interest in Y. W. C. A. work, to show what it stands for, and what it is doing.

The association here has prepared to bring the Jubilee spirit into all its activities during the month. They will give the following programs:

REV. MILLER TALKS TO STUDENTS

Rev. C. Emerson Miller, who recently became pastor of the Christian church of this city, paid his first visit to the Normal, at the assembly hour, Tuesday, January 25.

In an address to the students Mr. Miller quoted the words of Peter, "Though I should die with thee, yet will I not deny thee." This, he said was the purpose in the hearts of all the disciples. The resolution was too weak and in the presence of the enemy the purpose was forgotten.

Mr. Miller expressed the thought that, "The degree of power which we possess in any direction is not a matter of consciousness or introspection but of experimental discovery." This he applied to the student by saying, "You are here to discover yourselves — to find for what you are best fitted."

"Is a Spirit of Love—Co-operation"—Pauline Turner.

"If I Have a Working Religion, What Am I Doing?"—Mahala Saville.

As the climax of the Jubilee a pageant entitled, "Girls of Yesterday and Today," will be given in assembly. This deals with girl life from 1866 to the present day. A social entertainment will follow the program.

The speaker alluded to Franklin, Galileo and General Grant, as men who discovered by experimentation, their true vocation. He urged, that though mistakes are made, one should not become discouraged for "If a man puts his soul into a task with a determination to win, he will in the winning find himself."

The closing thought as given by Mr. Miller was, "Life is full of possibilities. It will hold for you whatever you wish to find in it. If you do not succeed in your chosen profession, you can at least set an example of love, faith, and of rectitude, and you will not have lived in vain."

Annual Eureka Banquet.

The annual banquet of the Eureka Literary Society will be held at the Linville Hotel, Saturday night, February 26. All former Eurekans, who expect to attend should notify the Society secretary not later than February 20.

"BEAR CATS"
ARE WINNING

"Bear Cats" Took Three Scalps in Succession — Springfield Coming February 11.

The "Bear Cats" are coming in on the home stretch in the race for the championship, and at the strides they are taking the chances look rather bright for Number Five.

The "Bear Cats" "out-bear-catted" all previous generations of that particular brand of animal on their last trip and brought home two nice, new scalps. The first victim was William Jewell College at Liberty, January 27. George Palfreyman, who accompanied the squad on the trip wired the score of the game: "Maryville Normal won last night from William Jewell, 36 to 32. Garard, Leech and McClintock starred. Exceptionally fast game. Brown refereed."

The second game was played with Missouri Wesleyan at Cameron June 28, the Normal team winning with a score of 36 to 24. Leech made six field goals, Vandersloot three. Garard played center, McClintock and Searlett, guards. Homer Scott was unable to play because of a "Charley-horse" received in the William Jewell game. Riley of Kansas City refereed the game. The Normal's percentage after winning this game was .750.

The third game won was played with William Jewell on the Normal court February 4. The "Bear Cats" won this time 23-19. Despite the fact that several of the Normal boys were still suffering from recent illness, the game was one of the roughest played on the Normal court this season. Lollis of the Normal squad was put out of the game for roughing. Vandersloot headed the list of point-getters, shooting five field goals and tossing five free throws. Searlett stood next with three field goals and Leech next with one. Walter Wray of Maryville refereed.

Maryville Normal plays the Springfield Normal February 11, on the former's court. Coach Hanson says, "We'll win the Springfield game by four points."

Every Normalite can have a part in the victory. We're going to win if each one will come to the game and do his share of the rooting.

Be at the game February 11. Beat Springfield.

WAKE UP!

The school life of a person amounts to very little unless he takes part in class activities. Here he meets his classmates in a social way and through this contact his education is broadened. This school has only two class organizations — Seniors and Juniors.

From all appearances the Seniors have been and are very busy. What they are now doing will be learned later.

But where are the Juniors?

Early in the fall a weiner roast was suggested by the Senior class-day stunts. Late in October said Juniors used the suggestion and spent an evening in the woods roasting weiners and marshmallows. A little later they were very enthusiastic over the Senior-Junior basketball game. But the splendid class spirit exhibited by them at the above mentioned game has now dwindled to a mere nothing. Quite often you hear a Junior meeting announced but that is all. At a recent meeting, however, they did decide to have a skating party but since no date was set it is supposed that they think the lakes, ponds and rivers will be covered with ice until next June.

Juniors, at this rate class memories of this year will never be anything to you. You cannot say in the years to come, "Do you remember the good times we had as Juniors of Number Five?"

W-A-K-E U-P!

ALUMNI NOTES.

Announcements were received by Normal students here of the marriage of Miss Althea Myers, of Gilman City, Mo., to Hughbert B. Cushman, January 30. Mrs. Cushman finished the 60-hour diploma course last fall quarter. She and her husband will make their home in Maryville, where Mr. Cushman is employed by P. O. Landon, as salesman for the Landon Music Co.

A new $8,000 school building was voted for Tina, Mo., January 28, says Miss Minnie Kennedy, '14, who is teaching there. Miss Kennedy has a class in bookkeeping this year, and says she believes those students work harder than any other class she has. The principal of the Tina High School is S. C. Richeson, of the 1915 graduating class.

Miss Jane Salmond, a member of '14 graduating class, writes that her pupils took five prizes at the township educational meeting held for teachers and pupils at Tarkio, Mo., January 23. The prizes won by Miss Salmond's pupils were for the best made cook-apron and fancy-apron, and for the neatest crochet and hem-stitching. The smaller children received the prize on the raffia work.

Mrs. Ella Richards Estes, '14, who lives in Liberty, the home of William Jewell College, sent the following message to the alumni editor, after the game had been played between the "Bear Cats" and the William Jewell quintet. "The 'Bear Cats' certainly lived up to their name last night and my, but I was proud of them. 36 to 32 in our favor. Wasn't that great? How I did enjoy the game and wish for the old bunch of '14 to help me yell. I wore out a perfectly good pair of gloves cheering, as it was. You see I keep in touch with the Normal by means of 'The Courier' and am as enthusiastic about everything as ever."

James Jones, '14, spent Saturday, February 5, in Maryville.

Miss Merle Levy spent Sunday with friends in King City.

Halley Ford, a student in Missouri University, was in Maryville between semesters. Mr. Ford was a student at the Normal last year.

Ernest Coler spent Sunday, February 6, with home folks.

Miss Lillie Mae Hall was the guest of Miss Mildred Garard in Pattonsburg the week-end, February 5.

Miss Harriet Van Buren went to Pickering Saturday evening, February 5, to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Johnson over Sunday. She returned Monday morning.

Pres. Richardson Talks to Y. W. C. A.

President Richardson gave a talk to the Y. W. C. A. Wednesday, January 26. The main topic was "The Vogue of Choice." In showing the effect of choice upon the lives of individuals, Martha and Mary were chosen as examples of persons who had chosen different things in life. Martha was interested in the cleaning, cooking, and serving, while Mary turned her attention to the Master and sought the deeper and broader interests of life. This difference of choice found in Martha and Mary centuries ago is found throughout society today. There are some individuals who as Martha did choose cooking and serving as the most important things.

Others consider hospitality, cheer and the larger view of life more worthy of their time and consideration.

There are different stations in life for all of us and each must fill his place. We cannot all be doing the great and most remarkable things because there are the ordinary tasks which must be done by someone. Oftentimes envy, because of our position, may cause dissatisfaction and as a result we overlook opportunities which pass our way. We must not forget that it is not what we do but the way we do it that counts. The little things must not be neglected because the way we perform the minor tasks shows our ability to perform the greater ones.

There must be unity in all we do in order to accomplish the most in that field of action. A business man who is great is one who attends to his business and practically nothing else.

A writer or an artist choose the things which belong to their line of work. Not only are choices necessary for the aims of a lifetime but during every day and in every rank of life there are turning points to be met and decisions to be made. The choices which we make in our words, our actions, our work and our pleasure are the blocks with which we build our character, and we are the agents which control our destiny.

Students Give Recitals.

A new feature in the form of a Reading Recital has been introduced into this school within the last few weeks. The recitals are given by the different members of the Advanced Reading class, under the direction of the instructor, H. A. Miller.

Each member of the class will give a recital this term. These recitals will be given each Friday evening from four to five o'clock in Mr. Miller's room. All students are invited.

The short story which is studied during the term is the basis of each program. These recitals enable the students, who are interested in this line of work to learn what is being done in that department. It is splendid practice for the reader who is in this way able to test his memory, to overcome any timidity which he may feel and to be at ease before an audience.

The first recital was given Friday January 28, by Miss Elizabeth Sobbing. The hour was greatly enjoyed by the students who were quite responsive. Sixty students were present. This shows that many are interested in this line of work.

Miss Sobbing gave the following readings: "Watchin' the Sparkin'" "Sandy's Ghost," "The Whistling Boy," "Chad's Story of the Goose," "How Girls Study" and "The Hazing of Valiant."

Miss Vida Heflin will give the second of the series February 11.

Oratorical Program.

The members of the class in oratory under Mr. Miller are also giving recitals. Henry A. Miller and William Utter gave orations Friday, February 4 in the auditorium. The orations given were, "The Tragedy of the North American Indian," Henry A. Miller. "A Noble Discontent," William Utter.

Philomathean Notes.

At their regular meeting on Thursday evening, February 3, the Philomathean debated the question: "Resolved That A Minimum Wage Scale to be Operative in Workshops, Factories and Department Stores Should be Provided by Law."

On the affirmative were Carrie Coler and Edgar Hull. Negatives, Eleanor Ritchie and Blanche Daise.

The debate was decidedly close, the decision being in favor of the affirmative.

The gross receipts from the play, "The Country Minister," which was presented Tuesday evening, January 25, were $48.50. Quite a substantial sum will be realized, above expenses.

What One Student is Doing.

Eugene Bird, who teaches the Unity School east of Hopkins and a former student here is now serving his community in a helpful way. He is teaching a class in manual training in the basement of the Presbyterian church each Saturday. The work has been in progress for a month and great interest is being shown by those taking the work.

Your presence is needed in the boys' gymnasium Friday, February 11, at eight o'clock.

MARYVILLE, MISSOURI

Miss Lois Perin, who teaches in the Hopkins public schools came to Maryville to witness the game between William College and the "Bear Cats."

Wade Henderson, a former student, is still a Normal booster. He was here Friday, February 4, to see us win the game from William Jewell College.

Mrs. Haskell to Come.

Mrs. Fenetta Sargent Haskell, dramatic reader, will appear in Maryville, Thursday, February 10, as the next number of the lecture course.

Mrs. Haskell has been enthusiastically received in all the leading cities and countries of the world. Her versatility may be judged by the extent and variety of her programs. She has something for everyone. For the young she reads James Whitecomb Riley, and Paul Lawrence Dunbar. She appeals to the romantic through a special program. "How Men Propose," made up from love scenes of various authors. To the studious and serious she offers selections from Shakespeare, Browning, Victor Hugo and Dickens. For the lovers of dialect some of her readings seem actual echoes from the Southern plantation.

All press comments give Mrs. Haskell a wide reputation as a reader of the first class and Maryville people should put forth every effort to hear her.

Greens Win in Tournament.

In the third game of the series between the girls' basketball teams, Wednesday, February 2, the "Greens" defeated the "Whites" by a score of 36-24. This is the second victory for the "Greens." It was a much faster game than the preceding ones. The teams will be re-organized soon. Several new players will join the ranks and some interesting games are promised.

The line-up Wednesday evening was as follows: "Greens"—Carrie Coler, captain, and Agnes Gromer, forwards; Dona Peter and Bertha Bolling, centers; Edna Younger and Katie Abplanalp, guards.

"Whites"—Nita Elliot and Helen Stockton, forwards; Verna Key, captain, and Mattie Clayton, centers and Esther McLavy and Merle Levy, guards.

W. J. Hawkins Visits Normal.

W. J. Hawkins, former president of the Warrensburg Normal School, visited Number Five Monday, January 31. Mr. Hawkins is now field secretary for Washington University, St. Louis. In a short talk at the assembly hour, Mr. Hawkins commended the teaching profession as a work greater at the present day than ever before, due to the larger field and higher standards of the twentieth century.

"Upon the Normal students," he said, "we depend to do this work," making the statement that the most successful teachers are those who have Normal training as a foundation for later college or university training.

In discussing the present day struggle to rise to prominent positions, Mr. Hawkins alluded to the migration of young people to the cities, and the value of an education along professional lines. He mentioned particularly the opportunity in the teaching profession, from various standpoints, especially that of service. This is illustrated by the large number of women who are becoming teachers not from necessity but through the desire to do something, worth while.

In closing, Mr. Hawkins spoke of the work of Washington University, emphasizing the opportunity of securing a professional education in a great university in our own state.

Line Party.

Quite a crowd of Normal boys and girls participated in a line party, Jan. 29.

The plan was concocted at school and was put into operation with enthusiasm. The bunch went to the Empire and afterward to the Candy Kitchen. In the group were: Mary Lewis, Vi June Colden, Mary Sewell, Vella Booth, Merle Scarborough, Blanche Daise, Helen Blagg, Lonnie Adams, Lowell Livingood, Virgil Lyle, Bruce Wilkerson, Verne Pickens, Warren Breit, and Ernest Coler.

Maryville's Place on the World.

Last November the government sent H. E. McComb to Maryville to secure data in regard to the variation of the magnetic needle. It is supposed to point north, but since the magnetic pole is not at the north pole the needle does not point north in many places but either points east of north or west of north. The observations of H. E. McComb show that the latitude of Maryville is 40 degrees 21 minutes north, and the longitude is 94 degrees 52 minutes west. The magnetic needle points 9 degrees 43 minutes east of north. He also established a meridian line on the Normal campus, the south end of which is marked by a marble post set in concrete flush with the ground and lettered, "U. S. C. & G. S., 1915." A hole was drilled in the foundation of the main building to mark the north point on the true meridian.

Mr. McComb also gave true bearings of four points from the marble post. This true meridian line can be used at any time to test the variation of any instrument using a magnetic needle.

To the Exchanges:

"The Southwest Standard," Springfield, Missouri. The unusual articles headed "Want Ads," "Books Called for at the Library Desk," and "Inevitable Answers in Class," can well be appreciated in Normal school life.

"The Optimist," Canton, Missouri. The splendid cuts add life to your athletic department. Jokes from college life are always in demand so give us some more.

"The Kirksville Normal School Index," Kirksville, Missouri. A paper of good literary value, which we are glad to welcome among our list of exchanges.

"The Capaha Arrow," Cape Girardeau, Missouri. We are glad to have your arrows fly this way. Let them keep on coming.

"The Howard-Payne Exponent," Fayette, Missouri. The picture on your front page adds much to the interest of the paper.

"The High School Forum," St. Joseph, Missouri. A good paper. The headings of the departments are especially good.

"The Westminster Fortnightly,"

Why not have some attractive headings and a few jokes to enliven your subject matter?

Blind and Deaf, Yet Happy.

Helen Keller's optimistic lecture on "Happiness" was delivered at the First Methodist church, January 27. A capacity crowd heard the wonderful woman, who has learned to speak without ever having heard a human voice and her no less wonderful teacher, Mrs. Anne Sullivan Macy. Mrs. Macy preceded Miss Keller on the platform and told in a very interesting way of going into the Keller home when Helen was only six years old, of her delight in teaching her pupil and of the ability and rapidity with which little Helen learned to talk.

Although Miss Keller's voice was somewhat mechanical she could be understood by most people in the audience. Her appearance in Maryville should inspire those of us who are not so unfortunate to better and nobler things.

Theatre Party.

Ray McPherron, student at Columbia, formerly of the Normal, gave an informal theatre party, while home, recently. After the show a luncheon at Reuillard's was served to the group. Those comprising the party were: Ray McPherron, Blanche Criswell, Vida Hefflin, Warren Breit, Thelma Roberts and Wm. Utter.

Words of Good Cheer.

Since January 1, 1916, the following items have appeared on the bulletin board in room 306:

"They can because they believe they can."—Virgil.

"Some defeats are only installments of victory."—Jacob A. Riis.

"Make the most of yourself, for that is all there is of you."—Emerson.

"Not what you do but how you do it, is the test of your capacity."—Stevenson.

Her Mistake.

The small girl walked thoughtfully into the house from the vegetable garden.

"Mother," said she, "have green gooseberries legs?"

Mother laughed. "Of course they haven't, darling: What made you think so?"

The child looked more solemn than ever as she replied: "Well, then, I've been eating caterpillars."

A January Breakfast.

Breakfast for six people for fifty-five cents certainly doesn't sound like our much talked of friend "The High Cost of Living." He played no part in the breakfast that the seventh and eighth grade girls of the Training School served Monday morning, Jan. 24, at the Normal cottage. The breakfast was prepared under the supervision of Miss Hettie M. Anthony, the head of the home economics department.

Pine branches were used for decoration. This decoration, something anyone can supply, shows that expensive hot house flowers need not be used to make an attractive table. In making the place cards, the hostesses made use of the pine motif.

Orange points, scrambled eggs on toast points, French fried potatoes, hoe cake, and coffee were served.

Five of the girls and Miss Anna L. Bainum, assistant in the home economics department, were the guests. Those in the two grades are Misses Martha Helpley, Doris Goforth, Madelyn Strawn, Mabel Raines, Mona Marie Everist, Annette Stiwalt, Neva Miller, Mabel Robey, Mildred Howard, Lucy Kenzel, Jennie Cary, Halcyon Hooker and Elizabeth Howard.

Three More Rural Schools Approved.

The requirements for approval have been met by three rural schools of Nodaway county recently. The teachers of all these schools are former Normal students. The schools and teachers are: Fox, near Barnard, Miss Nellie McKnight; Goodwill, near Skidmore, Miss Eula Strickler; Happy Hollow, near Pickering, Orlo W. Bond. Two more rural schools have been added to the approved list in Nodaway county. Certificates of approval were received today by Prof. Bert Cooper. One is the two-room graded school at Conception Junction, taught by C. C. Vickery and Miss Mabel Merrigan. The other is the Arkoe graded school, taught by Miss Gladys Yeaman.
